

Restoring Humanity in Dentistry: The Imperative of Qualitative Care

Throughout this enlightening presentation, Sherry Priebe navigates the landscape of dentistry with a focus on humanity. She dives into the intricate layers of the human experience related to oral health, challenging prevailing norms within the dental profession.

Sherry advocates for a shift towards patient-centered approaches, emphasizing the integration of qualitative research alongside traditional quantitative data. By empowering dental professionals with practical strategies and tools, Sherry aims to catalyze a transformation in care delivery, fostering empathy and compassion in dental practice.

Make global connection and knowledge transfer about oral cancer, disease prevention, and oral health your superpower as you promote overall health.

Assisting people to achieve optimum oral health through research, education and clinical practice.

Sherry Priebe
DHP, BDS, MSc

Learning Objectives:

- ✓ Enhance Awareness: Increase attendees' understanding of the multifaceted impact of oral health on patients' lives beyond clinical factors
- ✓ Catalyze Change: Inspire dental professionals to challenge existing norms and advocate for patient-centered care within their practice and the broader profession
- ✓ Foster Integration: Encourage the integration of qualitative insights into dental practice to improve patient outcomes and satisfaction
- ✓ Promote Empowerment: Provide attendees with actionable strategies and tools to enhance their capacity for delivering compassionate and human-centric care, ultimately enriching patient experiences and outcomes

SUGGESTED ATTENDEES:
Doctors and Team Members

SUGGESTED FORMAT:
Full or Half Day; Lecture, Workshop, Keynote